

PRESS RELEASE:

“Tina and The Gucci Flip Flop”* Creators Developing Film Project By Same Name

Creator of Twitter novella sensation “Tina and The Gucci Flip Flop”, Xavier Neal-Burgin @XLNB partners with former USC thesis team to develop a film project based on the juicy long form comedy that has social media all over the world crying in stitches.

At the helm is producer, Jenna Cavelle @jennacavelle, from Burgin’s advanced USC short film “Olde E” (currently in festival circuit) along with screenwriter, Tiara Marshall @sho_missez. The team is currently in discussions with investors and creatives and will release updates as they are available.

BuzzFeed calls Tina and The Gucci Flip Flop an “epic story”.

Alux boasts, “[Tina and The Gucci Flip Flop is] one of those stories that has it all, from drama, to comedy to romance to action there’s a little bit of everything just waiting to be enjoyed.”

Complex gushes, “The near-Zola level storytelling mastery is making the rounds once again in a very big way, and for good reason. This shit is stacked with plot twists not even the most frantic of soap operas could match.”

A “hilarious tale”... GlobalGrind.

“Thankfully, filmmaker Xavier Burgin who tweets under the moniker @XLNB, delivered” says Clutch.

For inquiries about the upcoming project contact Xavier at quethelights@gmail.com or Jenna at jennacavelle@her-pictures.com.

